

TALISA ERNSTMANN

Associate

Talisa Ernstmann has over 19 years experience in private, public, education, and non-profit organizations. She is the founder and president of Ernstmann Consulting, LLC. She has managed training and organization development functions in large private companies. Ms. Ernstmann has facilitated groups of senior managers and intact work teams of various sizes to develop strategic missions and visions, and create corresponding tactical plans. She has also helped organizations design and develop extensive leadership and mentoring programs. Ms. Ernstmann's ability to understand and translate strategic goals into tactical plans enables her to work with all levels within an organization. High energy and a focus on results characterize her work with groups. Ms. Ernstmann's experience in understanding program design and implementation has resulted in the development and rollout of successful mentoring, customer service, professional development and performance management programs. Talisa has worked with LEAD Alliance as a customer, employee, and/or associate since 1993.
